RESEARCH MISCONDUCT POLICY AND PROCEDURES

1 INTRODUCTION

1.1 General Policy

Research is an integral part of Troy University's mission. All TROY faculty, staff and students must maintain high professional and ethical standards in all research activities. It is also the responsibility of all TROY faculty, staff and students to report reasonable suspicion of research misconduct.

Scope

This policy is based on the Public Health Service (PHS) Policies on Research Misconduct (42 C.F.R. 93.42) as well as guidelines from professional associations such as the American Psychological Association. This policy applies to all TROY faculty, staff, or students who are directly affiliated with TROY during the period in which research is conducted. "Faculty" is defined as any individual, whether full-time or adjunct, teaching at least one class for TROY during the research period. A person is considered a TROY student if they are enrolled in at least one class during the study period.

1.3 Definitions

- (a) Research Misconduct is fabrication, falsification, or plagiarism in proposing, performing, or reviewing research, or in reporting research results. Research misconduct does NOT include honest error or differences of opinion.
- (b) Fabrication is making up data or results and recording or reporting them.
- (c) Falsification is manipulating research materials, equipment, or processes, or changing or omitting

(h) Respondent means the person against whom an allegation of research misconduct is directed who
